Vienna as a city of images: FOTO WIEN 2025 explores scenarios of the future as reflected in photography

How does our perception of the future change in the age of artificial intelligence, virtual realities, and images that are generated by algorithms, and how does photography react to these developments—in formal, content-related, and political terms? With works by 333 artists at 99 participating venues, this eleventh edition of Austria's largest photography festival explores the tension between images, science, technology, and society. Under the banner of "dynamic futures," FOTO WIEN 2025 addresses current and speculative questions about the future—and focusing on photography as an artistic, documentary, and research-oriented medium.

From October 3 to November 2, 2025, Vienna will once again be transformed into a city of images. Organized by FOTO ARSENAL WIEN, the festival is a city-wide platform for photography and lens-based media. With FOTO ARSENAL WIEN as the festival center, FOTO WIEN extends over the entire city: museums, exhibition centers, galleries, libraries, universities, off-spaces, and studios make photography visible and approachable—easily accessible, discursive, and open to everyone. Felix Hoffmann, festival director of FOTO WIEN and artistic director of FOTO ARSENAL WIEN explains, “By bringing photography into public space, FOTO WIEN makes it accessible to everyone. With exhibitions, talks, and actions around the city, it encourages cultural participation and shows how complex, critical, and relevant to society contemporary photography is. The festival provides discursive space for current topics, making it into a showcase of FOTO ARSENAL WIEN—demonstrating what we stand for: photographic excellence, discourse, and accessibility.” Hoffmann adds, “Moreover, the festival highlights our curatorial work and creates a network with the local and international photo scene.”

FOTO WIEN’s open call for submitting projects encourages an extremely diverse range of participants. From these proposals, an interdisciplinary jury chooses its program that includes historical perspectives as well as current aspects of image politics and speculative visualizations of the future.

Opening and Festival Center at FOTO ARSENAL WIEN

The festival opening will take place on October 3, 2025, at FOTO ARSENAL WIEN. This coincides with the beginning of the exhibition Science Fiction—A Non-History of Plants, which explores fictive knowledge production and visualizations between science, botany, and speculation (October 4, 2025, to January 18, 2026). For the first time, Mona Schubert serves as head curator of FOTO WIEN 2025, in collaboration with festival director Felix Hoffmann.

Mona Schubert comments, “Soon after its invention, there was speculation about the future uses of photography—in fields ranging from botany to astronomy. Today we are experiencing a similar profound transformation through the emergence of algorithmic images. FOTO WIEN 2025 invites visitors to actively explore this and other visions of the future.”
